- WHAT: City of Orange Planning Commission Meeting
Discussion of Ridgeline ONLY
Planning Commission will consider taking away 51 acres of open space from Orange residents to build more homes.
- WHEN: Monday, May 17, 2010
- TIME: 7:00 p.m.
- WHERE: Orange City Hall
300 E. Chapman Ave.
Orange, CA 92866
- UPDATE: At the Planning Commission meeting on Monday, May 3, there were about 230 people who came out to voice their opinion on this issue. Despite the developer's millions of dollars and his army of attorneys, architects, golf course experts and four public relations mavens, the local community members opposed to the project outnumbered the developer's supporters by about four-to-one. The Developer's mantra has been: "If you can't convince 'em, confuse 'em."
There is no debate about the zoning of the Ridgeline property in East Orange. It is zoned recreational open space and requires a zone change and amendment to the General Plan. This is a big deal!
- ISSUE: Recreational open space is in imminent danger of being taken away!
The Planning Commission will consider rezoning 51 acres of recreational open space and changing it to residential zoning so a developer can build homes. This would be in exchange for less than four acres (half of the horse arena site)... maybe... someday.
Be prepared for a lengthy session. If you didn't turn a speaker's card in at the last Planning Commission meeting, you will NOT be able to speak. You may ask, then why go? Because the city needs to see that you care! Whether you speak or not, by being there and wearing the orange "No Rezone Zone" sticker you WILL be counted. Hope to see you on Monday!
